

"Cogito ergo sum."

In the timeless words of René Descartes, 'I think, therefore I am', there is but the unyielding strength of our minds that leads us through all the thorns and roses and the highs and lows of our journey, unscathed and unwavering.

The fundamental foundation of a student's life is nurturing this strength and in doing so, they realise the boundless potential that each one of us has, brimming below our skins, waiting to be passionately kindled.

With the arrival of this new academic session, we find ourselves standing at the threshold of new beginnings and untapped opportunities.

Our academic year commenced with renewed vigour, highlighted by the MCKV SPRINT 2024, a celebration of unity in sports. Amidst our athletic prowess, we honoured Shakespeare's birthday, acknowledging the timeless influence of his works, which continue to inspire readers globally, emphasising the enduring power of literature and the arts.

As the sun rises on our school campus, it illuminates the path of our collective aspirations, igniting the flames of creativity and potential within each of us. So, Carpe Diem, my friends, for within each sunrise lies the promise of progress, if only we embrace the fire that burns within all of us.
